

ADDENDUM G

Our independent registered public accountants have identified and reported to us material weaknesses in our internal controls for the years ended December 31, 2004 and 2005 that, if not properly remediated, could result in material misstatements in our financial statements in future periods and impair our ability to comply with the accounting and reporting requirements applicable to public companies.

In connection with the audits of our consolidated financial statements for each of the years ended December 31, 2004 and 2005, our independent registered public accounting firm identified material weaknesses in our internal control over financial reporting under the standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Our independent registered public accounting firm has indicated that the material weaknesses in our revenue recognition process and financial statement closing process resulted from having insufficient procedures in place and an insufficient number of qualified resources in our finance department with the required proficiency to apply our accounting policies in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, or GAAP. Our independent registered public accounting firm was not, however, engaged to audit the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting. If such an evaluation had been performed or when we are required to perform such an evaluation, additional material weaknesses, significant deficiencies and other control deficiencies may have been or may be identified. Ensuring that we have adequate internal financial and accounting controls and procedures in place to help produce accurate financial statements on a timely basis is a costly and time-consuming effort that needs to be evaluated frequently, as described further under “—We will incur increased costs and demands upon management as a result of complying with the laws and regulations affecting public companies, which could adversely affect our operating results.”

Because of these material weaknesses, there is heightened risk that a material misstatement of our annual or quarterly financial statements will not be prevented or detected. While we have completed our remediation efforts to address these material weaknesses, we cannot assure you that these remediation efforts have been entirely successful or that similar material weaknesses will not recur. Once we become a public company, we will be required to comply with the requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 as of December 31, 2008 and subsequent fiscal years. In the event that we have not adequately remedied these material weaknesses, and if we fail to maintain proper and effective internal controls in future periods, it could adversely affect our operating results, financial condition and our ability to run our business effectively and could cause investors to lose confidence in our financial reporting.
